School Accountability Report Card Reported Using Data from 2010–11 School Year Published During 2011–12

The School Accountability Report Card (SARC), which is required by law to be published annually, contains information about the condition and performance of each California public school. More information about SARC requirements is available on the California Department of Education (CDE) SARC Web page at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/ac/sa/>. For additional information about the school, parents and community members should contact the school principal or the district office.

- This report has been compiled by Multiple Measures, LLC (<http://www.k12multiplemeasures.com>).
- The data were acquired from both the school and the CDE (<http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/ac/sa/>).
- A single asterisk in a cell (*) means that the size of the group was numerically insignificant.

I. Data and Access

Ed-Data Partnership Web Site

Ed-Data is a partnership of the CDE, EdSource, and the Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (FCMAT) that provides extensive financial, demographic, and performance information about California's public kindergarten through grade twelve school districts and schools.

DataQuest

DataQuest is an online data tool located on the CDE DataQuest Web page at <http://dq.cde.ca.gov/dataquest/> that contains additional information about this school and comparisons of the school to the district, the county, and the state. Specifically, DataQuest is a dynamic system that provides reports for accountability (e.g., state Academic Performance Index [API], federal Adequate Yearly Progress [AYP]), test data, enrollment, high school graduates, dropouts, course enrollments, staffing, and data regarding English learners.

Internet Access

Internet access is available at public libraries and other locations that are publicly accessible (e.g., the California State Library). Access to the Internet at libraries and public locations is generally provided on a first-come, first-served basis. Other use restrictions include the hours of operation, the length of time that a workstation may be used (depending on availability), the types of software programs available on a workstation, and the ability to print documents.

School Description and Mission Statement (School Year 2010-11)

We believe students will become productive citizens when they are challenged and mentored in leadership, problem solving skills and thinking skills while engaged in worthwhile tasks that are personally meaningful and have significance outside of school. At Shenandoah High School all students will be expected to engage in meaningful actions that lead to a successful transition to adult and lifelong learning capability. Individual student plans include the following:

- A student and his or her parents work with the teacher/advisor to identify a student's interests and develop a learning plan as an extension of the student's interests.
- Learning is centered on real work, in context, that has significance outside of school. Adult mentors connect students to their interests and the world of work.
- Students have meaningful daily communications with advisors, mentors and peers.
- Students are respected for their individuality and diversity. Students and staff support and learn from one another.
- Students receive extensive adult mentoring and advising.
- Students see a connection between the behavior and attitudes they are being asked to demonstrate at school and in the community/workplace. The teaching of productive character traits and basic life skills is evident and consistent with real-world expectations and standards.
- Students have opportunities to work cooperatively with others and to be a productive and contributing member of a team.
- Students complete meaningful projects and solve challenging problems in an internship setting by learning and applying academic skills and knowledge.
- Students are aware of what they are expected to learn, know what they have learned, and can identify what they still need to learn.
- Students formally present their work to teacher/advisors, parents, community mentors and other students. Students are evaluated on their work as a reflection of school and community standards.
- Students are aware of their individual interests and talents and know how to seek out opportunities to work on relevant projects that interest them.

In order to translate these expectations into practice, Shenandoah has made fundamental changes in the relationship between and among staff, students, parents, community organizations/businesses, the curriculum, and organizational structure. The culture, climate, and practices of the school and community must reflect the individualized nature of the instructional program. Teachers advise and mentor each student so that the student is engaged in his/her own learning. Parents are active partners in the school by setting quarterly learning goals and participating in the evaluation of their child's progress and understanding at exhibitions and reviews of student portfolios. Community members' work with individual students as mentors to teach the skills and attitudes needed to complete real work in a business/community setting.

Shenandoah is the only dependent charter school within the El Dorado Union High School District, set in a rural landscape in the Sierra Foothills located just behind the Union Mine High School campus. Shenandoah was granted a six-year WASC accreditation and a five-year term of funding determination from the CDE in spring 2007. During the 2010-11 school year, the charter will be reviewed and submitted to the EDUHSD Board for approval. Additionally, in the fall of 2007, the school was designated a Certified California Charter School by the California Charter School Association in recognition of the school's achievements.

Shenandoah High School collaborates with Big Picture Learning, a non-profit educational organization dedicated to the fundamental rethinking of schooling. Big Picture Schools are defined by their commitment to educate "One Student at a Time," and focus on authentic learning in order to develop students' abilities to apply academic knowledge and skills to real life experiences and challenges. Shenandoah High School is one of multiple Big Picture Schools in California. There are over sixty Big Picture and Inspired Schools in operation across the United States, with additional international schools located in Australia, Israel and the Netherlands. The Big Picture Learning organization supports Shenandoah through professional development, coaching and materials.

The school opened in the fall of 2002, with an initial class of 30 ninth graders. In subsequent years, the school added new 9th grade classes until all four years were represented. The school currently serves tenth through twelfth grades, as there were not sufficient ninth grade students pre-enrolled for the 2010-11 school year. However, recently, SHS was given permission to enroll ninth grade students and to enroll grades 9-12 for the 2011-12 school year. Shenandoah graduated its first senior class of twenty six students in May of 2006 and will graduate its sixth senior class in May 2011.

In May of 2006, the El Dorado Union High School District Board unanimously approved the Shenandoah High School petition for renewal of the school's charter for a term of five years. This followed an extensive review of the school's academic progress and fiscal standing. It was determined that in order to maintain a fiscally viable budget that the teacher to student ratio would need to be increased. Due to this change, Shenandoah reduced its advisor staff from eight to five advisors. A mixed grade level advisory model was adopted. The mixed advisory encourages stronger peer mentor/mentee relationship development. Prior to the 2008-2009 school year, funding dictated that additional restructuring was necessary. Currently, there are two full time teacher/advisors, one part time teacher/advisor, a RSP teacher and a part time administrator. Students needing additional support in Algebra 1 are concurrently enrolled at Mountain View High School. All advisories are mixed grade level with 11 to 23 students. The mixed grade level advisories continue to develop peer mentoring and stronger relationships between all students.

Advisors stay with students through multiple years and advisors form strong personal relationships with their students and families. Every student, at each grade level, experiences an internship with at least one local business or organization each year.

Opportunities for Parental Involvement (School Year 2010-11)

Student/Parent/Family engagement is a key element of Shenandoah High School. Families are engaged around their children by participating in learning plan meetings, exhibitions, and student portfolio reviews. Families are key resources at these meetings, providing valuable information about their student, as well as supporting the school's community by suggesting mentoring possibilities and using their assets in ways that support the school. Parents play an active role in the school community that includes volunteering in classrooms, social gatherings and supporting new parents and students. Shenandoah parents play a proactive role in the school life of their children throughout high school and into college.

As part of the application process for Shenandoah High School, parents attend a meeting with the administrator and/or other school staff. Parents sign a "Parent, Student, School Agreement" before enrolling their students in Shenandoah High School, committing to attend all of the learning plan meetings and exhibitions. Parents agree to attend at least one whole school community function, to keep in communication with the child's advisor, help monitor the child's work at home, and help make sure the child attends school every day unless ill.

Shenandoah families participate as resources for the weekly "Pick Me Ups." Parents work with Shenandoah as Book Group leaders facilitating weekly student workshops that meet 6-8 weeks three times per year. Parents also serve as student committee facilitators which meet weekly throughout the year. Student committees are an opportunity for every student to develop leadership skills and make valuable contributions to their school community.

Some of the other ways families support the school on a regular basis include: parents volunteering to drive students to their LTIs, assisting on field trips and other academic explorations. Parents also organize and participate in fundraising activities to raise needed funds for extra materials and student activities. All students and parents are also highly encouraged to visit at least three colleges or other post-secondary institutions together before the senior year.

Shenandoah has a committed group of parents and students who participate in its monthly Charter Advisory Committee meetings. The schools host a Back-to-School night, College Information nights, and financial aid/scholarship workshops each year. Parents also help with 8th grade recruitment by attending meetings and facilitating an information table at the annual Spring Open House.

Shenandoah sends home detailed, written narratives about each student two times a year, as well as yearly results on the CAHSEE, state tests, and PSAT scores. Additionally, Shenandoah parents participate in their students' exhibitions/assessments four times a year, and during four separate conferences with the advisor help develop their students' Learning Plans.

IX. Student Performance

Standardized Testing and Reporting Program

The Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR) Program consists of several key components, including:

- California Standards Tests (CSTs), which include English-language arts (ELA) and mathematics in grades two through eleven; science in grades five, eight, and nine through eleven; and history-social science in grades eight, and nine through eleven.
- California Modified Assessment (CMA), an alternate assessment that is based on modified achievement standards in ELA for grades three through eleven; mathematics for grades three through seven, Algebra I, and Geometry; and science in grades five and eight, and Life Science in grade ten. The CMA is designed to assess those students whose disabilities preclude them from achieving grade-level proficiency on an assessment of the California content standards with or without accommodations.
- California Alternate Performance Assessment (CAPA), includes ELA and mathematics in grades two through eleven, and science for grades five, eight, and ten. The CAPA is given to those students with significant cognitive disabilities whose disabilities prevent them from taking either the CSTs with accommodations or modifications or the CMA with accommodations.

The assessments under the STAR Program show how well students are doing in relation to the state content standards. On each of these assessments, student scores are reported as performance levels.

For detailed information regarding the STAR Program results for each grade and performance level, including the percent of students not tested, see the CDE STAR Results Web site at <http://star.cde.ca.gov>.

California High School Exit Examination

The California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) is primarily used as a graduation requirement. However, the grade ten results of this exam are also used to establish the percentages of students at three proficiency levels (not proficient, proficient, or advanced) in ELA and mathematics to compute AYP designations required by the federal ESEA, also known as NCLB.

For detailed information regarding CAHSEE results, see the CDE CAHSEE Web site at <http://cahsee.cde.ca.gov/>.

X. Accountability

Academic Performance Index

The Academic Performance Index (API) is an annual measure of state academic performance and progress of schools in California. API scores range from 200 to 1,000, with a statewide target of 800. For detailed information about the API, see the CDE API Web page at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/ac/ap/>.

Academic Performance Index Ranks – Three-Year Comparison

This table displays the school's statewide and similar schools' API ranks. The statewide API rank ranges from 1 to 10. A statewide rank of 1 means that the school has an API score in the lowest ten percent of all schools in the state, while a statewide rank of 10 means that the school has an API score in the highest ten percent of all schools in the state.

The similar schools API rank reflects how a school compares to 100 statistically matched "similar schools." A similar schools rank of 1 means that the school's academic performance is comparable to the lowest performing ten schools of the 100 similar schools, while a similar schools rank of 10 means that the school's academic performance is better than at least 90 of the 100 similar schools.

Adequate Yearly Progress

The federal NCLB Act requires that all schools and districts meet the following Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) criteria:

- Participation rate on the state's standards-based assessments in ELA and mathematics
- Percent proficient on the state's standards-based assessments in ELA and mathematics
- API as an additional indicator
- Graduation rate (for secondary schools)

Detailed information about AYP, including participation rates and percent proficient results by student group, can be found at the CDE Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) Web page at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/ac/ay/>.

Federal Intervention Program (School Year 2011-12)

Schools and districts receiving federal Title I funding enter Program Improvement (PI) if they do not make AYP for two consecutive years in the same content area (ELA or mathematics) or on the same indicator (API or graduation rate). After entering PI, schools and districts advance to the next level of intervention with each additional year that they do not make AYP. For detailed information about PI identification, see the CDE PI Status Determinations Web page: <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/ac/ay/tidetermine.asp>.

XI. School Completion and Postsecondary Preparation

Admission Requirements for California's Public Universities

University of California

Admission requirements for the University of California (UC) follow guidelines set forth in the Master Plan, which requires that the top one-eighth of the state's high school graduates, as well as those transfer students who have successfully completed specified college course work, be eligible for admission to the UC. These requirements are designed to ensure that all eligible students are adequately prepared for University-level work.

For general admissions requirements, please visit the UC Admissions Information Web page at <http://www.universityofcalifornia.edu/admissions/>. (Outside source)

California State University

Eligibility for admission to the California State University (CSU) is determined by three factors:

- Specific high school courses
- Grades in specified courses and test scores
- Graduation from high school

Some campuses have higher standards for particular majors or students who live outside the local campus area. Because of the number of students who apply, a few campuses have higher standards (supplementary admission criteria) for all applicants. Most CSU campuses have local admission guarantee policies for students who graduate or transfer from high schools and colleges that are historically served by a CSU campus in that region. For admission, application, and fee information see the CSU Web page at <http://www.calstate.edu/admission/admission.shtml>. (Outside source)

Career Technical Education Programs (School Year 2010-11)

The California Department of Education defines Career Technical Education (CTE) as --“a program of study that involves a multiyear sequence of courses that integrates core academic knowledge with technical and occupational knowledge to provide students with a pathway to postsecondary education and careers.” The Regional Occupational Program (ROP) is part of the public education system and an important component in the continuum of sequenced CTE classes. CTE coursework often leads to ROP courses, providing more focused, advanced capstone courses to prepare for entry-level jobs or to make a transition to postsecondary education, technical training, or apprenticeships. The purpose of ROP is to prepare students to (1) enter the workforce with the skills and competencies necessary to succeed, (2) pursue advanced training in higher educational institutions, and/or (3) upgrade existing skills and knowledge. The ROP delivery system is directly linked to business and industry through advisory committees and provides work-based learning opportunities for students.

To ensure that the skills taught and the context covered better match industry expectations and standards, industry input is required prior to Board approval of any CTE course revision and adoption process. CTE course curriculum are reviewed and approved by the El Dorado Union High School District's (EDUHSD) Standards and Instructional Leadership Team (SILT) committee, and the EDUHSD CTE Advisory Board. Some ROP courses are articulated with local California community college districts. ROP provides high-quality CTE programs and contributes to students' academic and career educational achievement, allowing them a smooth entry into the workforce or postsecondary education. Students receive a competency based certificate upon successful completion of the ROP program. Depending on the course, students may also receive industry certification that is recognized regionally, statewide, or nationally.

In 2010-11, seventy-eight percent of 12th grade CTE concentrators met the proficient or advanced level on the reading/language arts portion of the California High School Exit Exam (CAHSEE). Seventy-nine percent met the proficient or advanced level on the mathematics portion of the CAHSEE. Students identified from special populations are provided with resources appropriate to their specific need. Instructional technicians, interpreters, and financial assistance referrals are among services provided to students from special populations. The percentage of CTE participants from underrepresented gender groups increased in the 2010-11 school year to over 29%. Nearly 34% of CTE concentrators from this group enrolled in a capstone CTE course that led to employment in a nontraditional field, and received a received an industry-recognized certification, or passed an end of program assessment aligned with industry-recognized standards.

District CTE teachers held a minimum of two industry specific advisory committee meetings during the 2010-11 school-year. Each committee consists of a minimum of five members from industry, one student member, and one faculty member who generally serves as secretary to the committee. During fall and/or spring, course curriculum, outlines, and projects were reviewed to ensure current industry standards are incorporated in student performance learning. The District also has a CTE Advisory Board which consists of a local business representative from each of the individual industry sector advisory committees; students; local community college, and university administrators; a representative from the CA State Employment Development Department; and district CTE faculty and administrators.

Several CTE teachers participated in the SB70 funded 2011 Summer Institute offered by the El Dorado County Career Technical Partnership. The teacher industry-based externship program increased teacher knowledge and their ability to apply core academic and career technical education content standards into their curriculum. A team of two teachers and one agency representative worked together to create contextual lessons/modules that relate to their industry. The teachers worked as “externs” with a local agency or business and learned first-hand the skills and qualities necessary to secure and keep jobs with local employers. Upon completion of the 40-hour externship, the team of three collaborators used the externship experience and the partner's in-depth knowledge of the business or industry to create contextual lessons or modules that the teachers delivered in their classrooms.

The end of the school year assessment is two-fold comprised of 1) CTE teachers self-assessment based on California teaching standards and the eleven (11) elements of a highly effective CTE program, and; 2) a student survey identifying attainment of student career goals. These survey results are reviewed by the district CTE advisory committee board, administrators, instructors, and the school Board of Trustees.

XII. Instructional Planning and Scheduling

Professional Development

During the past three years, the district, through direction of the Board of Trustees, implemented “categorical flexibility” with regard to the professional development days beyond teacher contracted days. In doing so, the district has not implemented “buy back” professional development days as in past years.

In spite of the reduction of the traditional professional development days, the district has supported professional development opportunities in a variety of other ways. Each of the past three years, the district has supported teachers in the acquiring the authorization to educate English Learners. This support has included reimbursement of fees related to coursework and testing as well as working with other agencies in organizing and facilitating teacher trainings. The district has also provided professional development related to the district’s technology role out, specifically SMART Board training. A core group of teachers were trained as “trainer of trainers” and these teachers serve as resources across the district. All math and science teachers participated in SMART Board training during the past two years. Beyond the district level training, each site is allocated funds to support staff development opportunities at the site levels. Principals work with a site committee to identify appropriate trainings and the group approves individual and group requests. Topics of such trainings vary by site but have included topics such as support of English Learners, implementation of Common Core Standards, literacy skills including writing across content areas and training for teachers of Advanced Placement courses.

As resources for professional development have decreased the past few years, EDUHSD has maintained a commitment to the continued professional development of our staff members.
